Hello,

We are reaching out to make you aware of a 3rd party that has been contacting our customers with fraudulent emails claiming to represent Amsted Automotive. They are proposing to partner on an upcoming project and request for additional communication. If you receive any request you think might be fraudulent please do not engage with the Individuals as they do not represent Amsted Automotive and we believe their intent is to defraud you or your organization. If you do receive a fraudulent email, please let your Amsted Automotive Contact know and provide a screen shot of the communication. This will help our efforts to remove the fake domain.

Two ways to tell if the email you received is from a third party and not Amsted Automotive

Hallo,

folgende Anfrage haben Sie über Ihre Webseite erhalten:

Name: Anthony McCarthy
E-Mail-Adresse: anthony@amstedautos.com
Mitteilung: Good Day,

My name is Anthony McCarthy, and I am reaching out on behalf of Amsted Automotive USA. We have been trying to get in touch with your company as we are in urgent need of your services for a new project recently initiated by one of our subsidiaries.

We would greatly appreciate your prompt response so we can share the project details and explore how we can move forward together.

Looking forward to hearing from you soon.

Best Regards

Anthony McCarthy.

Two red circles highlight the email address and the WhatsApp number. Red lines connect these circles to callout boxes on the right:

- The first callout box points to the email address and contains the text: "Email that ends with S. @amstedautos.com is not the correct email address".
- The second callout box points to the WhatsApp number and contains the text: "WhatsApp phone number in signature".

If you have any questions please reach out to your Amsted Automotive Contact.
